OWNING PROPERTY IN THAILAND

While buying property in Thailand is not the same as it is in Europe, it really isn't as difficult as some agents say. The property itself can be owned by a foreign buyer 100%, where as the land is a seperate issue which is often the confusing issue.

Buying a villa in Royle Village, your land is on a 30 year lease option which is renewable in additional 30 year periods after that. Royle Real Estate as a company has the rights to all the land within the village, therefore the land is leased directly from us.
